Since my good friend Larry Altman and I were gradiates of the fine educational institution of Alva High School, I have absolutely no doubt he is capable of reading this entry in the Isle of Wight Deed Book I...

I just thought Larry might be amused that a 30 year old John Altman in 1693 stated that his neighbor James Bagnall informed him the said John that he, the said James, told him to "take note" that "he would be driving his cattle across my pasture" some clues to help my old friend to find this if he gets so inclined....

John Altman

At first, I thought Mr. Bagnall was a very fine fellow informing his neighbor in a timely manner that he was going to run his cattle across his land..... thank you very much...

But No!... this gets dark... very Dark!

Read the surrounding entries...

TRIGGER WARNING!!!!!!

...something about poking a pig with a stick....
and I would not be surprised if these folks smoked pipes...
... and problaby drank spiritous likkers...
